

Disclaimer

Thorpe's Commerce is solely an affiliate base website, we partner with different companies that offer various products, we do not offer these products directly therefore you must address any claims directly to the companies in which the product was purchased however, Thorpe's Commerce will do its best to assist you in any of your claims if you have a problem reaching the desired company.

Thorpe's Commerce does not hold itself responsible for the direct purchase of your products.

And here at Thorpe's Commerce, we are an e-commerce store, dedicated to searching out and bringing you the newest and best products at an affordable cost. Shopping online has become more important as we deal with the crisis in the world today. We have learned that through this crisis we see that we need to be more flexible, so we will provide you with a safe and economical way to shop. We offer affiliate training, digital downloads, even a website community that will help you and train you to build websites, and funnels and much more products like electronics, outdoor, home, health and beauty and much more we will in the future even be offering website design and photography we look forward to serving each and every one of you in the future.